Wanted Suspect Arrested in California

Michael Mathwig, wanted in connection with a homicide investigation on Callahan Drive, has been arrested in Red Bluff California. Mathwig was identified as a person of interest in the death of his 40-year-old girlfriend. A nation-wide arrest warrant was issued for Mathwig, charging him with Felony Violation of No Contact Order. Mathwig fled Washington shortly after the homicide occurred. Acting on information from Bremerton Detectives, local law enforcement in California located and arrested Mathwig following a short pursuit.

Bremerton Detectives are now in California continuing their investigation and will seek to extradite Mathwig back to Washington.
